CONFERENCE KEYNOTE > Bernard Salt

Bernard Salt is widely regarded as one of Australia's leading social commentators by business, the media and the broader community. He is a high-profile Melbourne-based Partner with the global advisory firm KPMG where he founded the specialist advisory business, KPMG Demographics. Bernard will be delivering a tailored presentation for the Victorian water industry:

Which Way Water? Managing expectations for water usage in a bigger future Victoria

By the mid-2030s Melbourne has passed the six million mark. By mid-century Melbourne will be bigger than Sydney and there will be four million more Victorians in a hotter drier climate. The issue isn't so much delivering water to the masses of extra people although that is an extraordinary challenge. In some ways the issue will be to convince Victorians to change their behaviour and expectations with regard to water. And not just in terms of water saving but in the cost of delivering good quality reticulated water to every Victorian on tap! Which Way Water explores the ins the outs the behaviours the aspirations of Victorians and their attitudes to water over 30 years. Bernard Salt is a compelling speaker; do not miss this event!
